Mendoza, Gerail C.

ICT – 101

1. Read the instructions in the handbook. Making a backup of your key files is a good idea before you begin configuring your new computer. Following operating system installation, you require to update the hardware drivers for your machine. To safeguard your new computer from viruses, malware, and other dangers, install antivirus software.

2. The system case on a desk must have good enough airflow in addition to being aesthetically pleasing and easily accessible. To prevent dust, the system case is typically placed on a desk or other flat surface.

3. You can make a difference by making sure that your input and output devices are placed in a way that is cozy, practical, and secure. By taking into consideration of accessibility, personal taste, and ergonomics.

4. No, Windows are not key-sensitive when logging in.

5. Check the Start menu: The Start menu is a good location to start looking for any installed programs on your computer. Alternatively, you can open a word editing program by using the Run command.

6. The virtual desktop, Alt + Tab, and the task view function. While virtual desktops are a method to set up different workspaces on your computer, task view allows you to see all your open programs and windows at once. To move to another application, use Alt + Tab.

7. Touchpad of the laptop. He can use it to scroll down and up. He use Up and down arrows and if he has an mouse he can use the scroll wheel of his mouse.