Activity 4: MYSELF AND THE SOLAR SYSTEM
REFLECTION PAPER

We are just a speck of dust… but I think I'm in a story where the rise of the generation Z. I was born in this generation and as time goes by my understanding of this solar system is expanding. I was given a purpose to enjoy life as God gave me a life and a role. I'm a son, student, friend by many, good sibling, and a future programmer. I think if I continue this path surely but slowly, I'm getting closer to one of my greatest goals in my life, and that is to be a software engineer or a programmer. My friends and family are what motivates me to keep going. Without them I don't think I would get to this place, having them is meaningful in my life and I hope that having me to them was also meaningful for them. My sun is God, my moon are my friends, my water and my land is my family. The reason why God is my sun because He gave me a light, hope, and when once my time is to shine. The reason why my friends are my moon is when I'm done shining, my friends would glow my dark times and be there for me always. The reason why my parents is the water and land because I can't live without them, I can't survive and will always be looking for it while the land is I needed to stand and build meaningful relationships.
